CONTENT

Preface .............................................................................................................................. 8

DISENTANGLING THE DISCOURSES AND PRACTICE OF SOCIAL POLICY

Arvydas Guogis, Dainius Bernotas
On the part of western discoveries in research of welfare state models ........................................ 9

Tiina Määttä, Merja Laitinen
Tracing counterclaims against dominant discourses on ethnicity – a finnish example ...................... 23

Laimutė Żalimienė, Eugenijus Dunajevas
Structure of social assistance in lithuania from the perspective of the client’s autonomy and paternalism ............................................................. 37

Bronius Palśis
Community policing officer position: combining public order and social work roles .............................. 55

Milda Mockaitytė-Cicilionienė
The legitimation contradictions of the child removal from a family: the perspective of the social worker ........................................................................... 79

A NEED FOR A SENSITIVE SOCIAL WORK INTERVENTION

Sandra Šatkauskienė
Interaction between social worker and client in helping process: “to steal a way into client’s heart is the foremost” ............................................................... 99

Auksė Baliukevičiūtė
Adjusting to changes caused by transition from work to retirement: experiences of elderly people ......................................................................................... 121

R. Jurkuvienė, I. Gajdosikienė, L. Danusevičienė, J. Šimkovič
A parent with oncological illness: experiences of teenagers in the context of children rights .................. 143

COMMENT

Jonas Ruškus
The implementation of the rights of people with disabilities to build a social welfare society .................. 167

INTERVIEW

With Karilė levickaitė, director of a non-governmental organization mental health perspectives .............. 171